For the second time in a row, EIA organises the EIA Awards in the framework of its annual 'Irrigation Days' to recognize and promote the irrigation industry's most innovative products or services for environmental sustainability. This contest is open to all companies, both members and non-members, which have built innovative products, equipment, sites, projects or designs that promote water and energy savings. Why not sign up now and ensure your seat at this key industry event?

An impartial, international, jury of recognized experts decides which products or services are selected to be given an EIA Award. The 2013 jury was composed of Guy Van Doorslaer (Secretary General of European Garden Machinery Federation (EGMF)), Michel Histel (Consultant HSC), Bruno Molle (Head of the Irrigation equipment testing and research laboratory (LERMI), Irstea) and Jaime Rivera (Founder/Partner at OGMIA Consulting services).

Last year's Awards were a major success thanks to the high-level innovative nominations from both EIA members and non-members and the continuing dedication of the EIA gold sponsors (Hunter Industries and Rain Bird) and silver sponsors (NETAFIM and Eurodrip), as well as the active promotion of the awards and participation by the EIA media partner Irrigazette. It is your chance to stand out this year!

The 2014 EIA Awards will take place during the EIA Irrigation Days and the EIMA trade fair in Bologna. The awards will be presented during an attention-grabbing Gala Dinner, scheduled on the evening of 13 November in Bologna.

Call for nominations has opened! Go for recognition and visibility!
